

Name: Carl Jorenz Gimeno

Find out why some compilers produce a warning message for the expression

`i < sizeof (a) / sizeof (a[0])`

Some compilers show a warning message for such expression because the `sizeof` function doesn't work with pointers, which is used when arrays are passed on to functions as arguments.